To assist customers complying with the Nutritional Labeling and Education Act (NLEA) Foran has compiled the preceding information from its database. The database contains information derived from vendor supplied data, and data from public literature.

Reliance on this data alone could result in a violation of the NLEA regulations.

The FDA stated the use of databases may result in labels in violation of the law because the data are often inaccurate and they do not account for losses during processing. (58 Fed. Reg. 2163-2164 (Jan. 6, 1993))

FDA will determine compliance of your products by analyzing samples of your product in accordance with appropriate AOAC methods. (21 CFR Section 101.9 (g))
